How to Play:

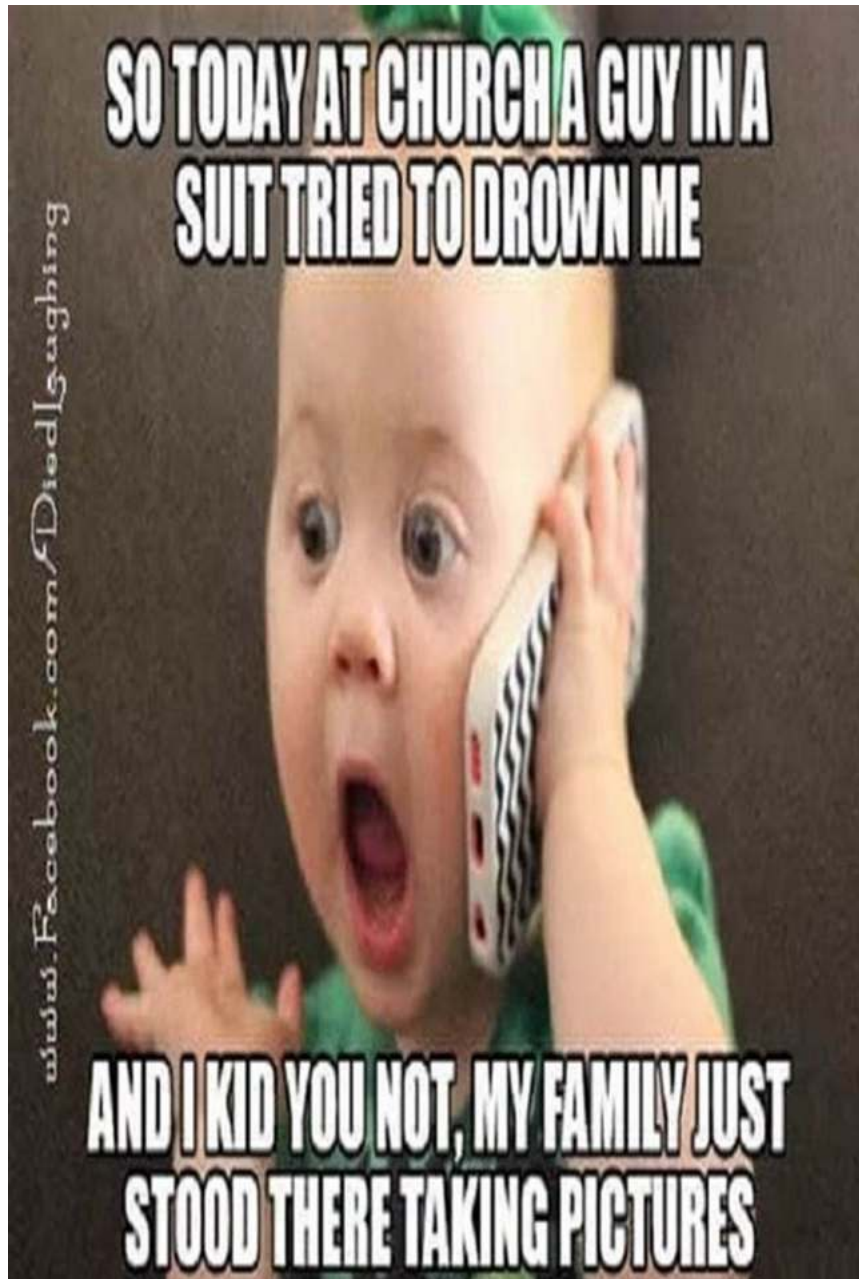

Playing this game is simple, and it requires only a few materials. All you need are the question cards, a timer, and at least two players. Here's how you can get started:

1. Divide the players into two teams.

2. Decide who goes first. This can be done by flipping a coin, playing rock-paper-scissors, or any other fair method.
3. The first team selects a question card and reads it out loud within a specified time limit (usually 30 seconds).
4. The opposing team must then try to guess the answer to the question. If they guess correctly, they earn a point.
5. Next, the teams switch roles, and the process repeats.
6. The game continues until all the question cards have been used or until the players decide to stop.
7. The team with the most points at the end of the game emerges as the winner.
