Spiritual Journey

Anna's spiritual journey took a significant turn when she encountered the writings of Saint Thérèse of Lisieux, also known as the Little Flower. Saint Thérèse's emphasis on doing small acts of love for God and others resonated deeply with Anna, igniting a fire within her to live a life of selfless service.

Anna longed to join a religious community and devote her life entirely to God. However, due to financial constraints, she was unable to fulfill her desire. Undeterred, Anna resolved to dedicate herself to serving God within her own village by assisting the local priest, caring for the sick, and offering spiritual guidance to those in need.

Call to be a Nun

Anna's life took a remarkable turn when, at the age of 35, she received a powerful vision during Mass. In this profound experience, Anna heard the voice of Jesus beckoning her to become a nun, despite her previous obstacles. Overwhelmed by the certainty of this calling, Anna pursued her vocation with unwavering determination.

After obtaining a sponsorship, Anna joined the Sisters of Saint Dorothy, a religious community in Bavaria. She embraced the religious life wholeheartedly, diving into her spiritual and communal responsibilities with fervor. Anna's sincerity and deep devotion to God inspired those around her, leaving a lasting impact on the community.

Paralysis and Suffering

However, Anna's journey took an unexpected turn when she contracted typhoid fever, leading to a debilitating paralysis that confined her to bed. Despite her physical limitations, Anna remained steadfast in her faith, seeing her suffering as an opportunity to unite herself with the suffering of Christ for the salvation of souls.

Anna's room quickly became a place of pilgrimage, as people from near and far sought her guidance and prayers. Even in the midst of excruciating pain, Anna offered words of comfort, hope, and consolation to those who sought her out. Her ability to see beauty and purpose in suffering inspired countless individuals to persevere in their own trials.

Veneration and Beatification

As news of Anna's holiness spread, she became widely recognized as a person of remarkable sanctity. After her death on October 5, 1925, Anna's tomb in the chapel of the Sisters of Saint Dorothy became a place of veneration and prayer.

Numerous miracles were attributed to her intercession, further solidifying her reputation as a holy woman.

Her cause for beatification was introduced in 1973, and on January 21, 1999, Pope John Paul II declared Anna Schaeffer "Blessed." She is now known as Blessed Anna Schaeffer, commemorated for her unwavering faith, incredible patience, and loving service to others.

Although the tea there is sweet enough to give her cavities, at least the people love her and

Sadie meets a new friend looking for her own fresh start, who shows Sadie the value of true friendship and reminds her there's always more to a person's story than what's on display.
