

From Empire to Remembered Past: Memory and Modernity Since the Fall of the Ottoman Empire

The Rise and Fall of the Ottoman Empire

For centuries, the Ottoman Empire stretched across continents, connecting cultures, and leaving a profound impact on the world. The fall of this once-mighty empire marked the beginning of a new era, both in terms of political landscapes and the collective memory of its people.

The Transformation of Modernity

The dissolution of the Ottoman Empire led to a rapid shift in governing structures, paving the way for the emergence of modern nation-states. As borders were redrawn, new narratives of identity and belonging were constructed. However, alongside these political changes, memory played a crucial role in shaping the contemporary understanding of the past.

Collective Memory: Remembering an Empire

One fascinating aspect of memory is its ability to adapt and evolve over time. In the case of the Ottoman Empire, memory has played a pivotal role in shaping the present and the future. From historical accounts to cultural heritage, the memory of the empire lives on in various forms.

Between 1945 and 1960, the birth of a multi-party democracy and NATO membership radically transformed Turkey's foreign relations and domestic politics. As Turkish politicians, intellectuals and voters rethought their country's relationship with its past and its future to facilitate democratization, a new alliance with the United States was formed. In this book, Nicholas L. Danforth demonstrates how these transformations helped consolidate a consensus on the nature of Turkish modernity that continues to shape current political and cultural debates. He reveals the surprisingly nuanced and often paradoxical ways that both secular modernizers and their Islamist critics deployed Turkey's famous clichés about East and West, as well as tradition and modernity, to advance their agendas. By drawing on a diverse array of published and archival sources, Danforth offers a tour de force exploration of the relationship between democracy, diplomacy, modernity, Westernization, Ottoman historiography and religion in mid-century Turkey.
