Sightings of humanoid winged creatures have been reported ever since the dawn of human civilization. From claims of modern day extraterrestrial sightings and cryptid encounters to the ancient accounts of Angels and Demons, winged humanoid sightings have become so deeply ingrained in our culture that they are often among some of the first cryptid encounters dismissed as nothing more than misidentifications of common aviatory vehicles. In this book, you will find a collection of more than fifteen individual reports of giant winged creatures seen around the world that display abilities and traits unlike any known animal within the scientific world.

Reports of winged creatures vary tremendously in their descriptions across witness reports, with no general consensus amongst the nature of any two sightings. Such descriptions of creatures range from being the size of a grown man with bat-like wings to a monstrous bird shaped artifact estimated to have been several miles in length. Despite the wide number of sightings, many such reports remain to be isolated incidents and, though will have been reported as a combined sighting between several reputable individuals, will never be seen or reported again in the future. In the modern day, many such reports of winged creatures have been categorized as sightings of Unidentified Flying Objects and are often misreported as being mechanical in nature or are completely disregarded by UFOlogists entirely.
