This is a book of love. Love that was forged in thrilling rides through whitewater, rides that were sometimes frightening, but always exhilarating. Love that was secured in quiet stretches of beauty and relaxation. Love of nature and appreciation for our small but important role in our environment. And love with family and friends that became stronger

This is a book about teamwork. How working together as a team can accomplish more, with greater safety and efficiency, and with joy and pleasure in living.

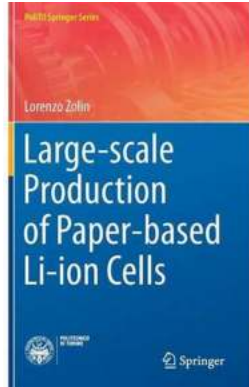

At first, we never thought a river could teach us so much. In the beginning, the lessons we learned were subconscious and subliminal. With an increasing number of trips down the river, we were able to recognize and express what we had learned. And finally, we could appreciate what the river gave to us, including a retreat for a short time, flowing with the river as part of our environment that recharged us and, at the same time, relaxed us.

This book is not just about any river. It is about The Grande Ronde River. Our River! And so this book is a big thank you to Our River, for the gift of being, for the uplifting beauty shared with us, and for the lessons learned that made us better human beings.
