The Power of Student Activism

Student activism has been critical in advocating for change throughout history. Today, students organizing for justice in Palestine continue this legacy, using social media platforms, rallies, educational forums, and extensive networking to amplify their voices. Their compelling stories, heartfelt testimonials, and dedication inspire others to take action.

Building Bridges and Establishing Allies

The movement understands the importance of building bridges and establishing alliances. Students Organize for Justice in Palestine collaborates with other student organizations, human rights groups, and activists fighting for similar causes. This unity strengthens their collective voice, bringing together people from diverse backgrounds and communities to join their fight for a just Palestine.

Education and Awareness Campaigns

Students Organize for Justice in Palestine recognize the significance of education and awareness campaigns in fostering change. They organize workshops, movie screenings, panel discussions, and conferences to educate students and the wider public about the historical context, human rights violations, and socio-political dynamics related to the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. These activities challenge misconceptions and aim to shift public opinion.

Efforts for Boycott, Divestment, and Sanctions (BDS)

One of the significant strategies employed by Students Organize for Justice in Palestine is calling for international institutions, universities, and businesses to boycott, divest, and sanction entities that profit from or support the Israeli occupation. By promoting BDS initiatives, students exert pressure on institutions to recognize the urgency of the issue and take a stand for justice.

Challenges and Resilience

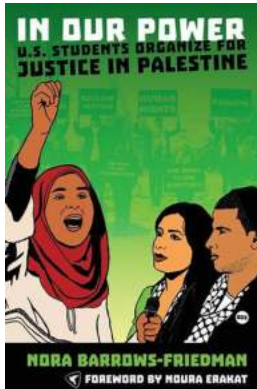

The journey of Students Organize for Justice in Palestine has not been without challenges. They often face criticism, hostility, and resistance from those opposed to their cause. Despite these hurdles, students remain resilient, fueled by their unwavering belief in the cause and their determination to make a difference.

The Global Impact

In the years following Israel’s 2008–9 “Operation Cast Lead” attack on the Palestinians of Gaza, a new kind of student movement emerged on U.S. campuses, in support of the idea that Palestinians should gain the full exercise of their human and political rights within their historic homeland. In 2013 and early 2014, journalist Nora Barrows-Friedman crisscrossed the United States interviewing the young activists who form the core of this new student movement, and their voices ring out strongly from every page of this book. In In Our Power reveals the rich political legacy these students are building on campuses all around the country.
