Ruby Mathers is trapped in an unhappy marriage. Her husband, Tom, is controlling and blames Ruby when children are not forthcoming. While he is never physically violent to her, Tom's words still cut Ruby to the core.

Realizing that the rest of her life, could be spent in her husband's company, Ruby decides that she has had enough and wants something more, something sweeter.

Ruby divorces Tom with the hope of finding another, but with the stigma of divorce lingering, Ruby has to find another way to find what she has always wished for — a happy fulfilling marriage.

She sets off for Nebraska to marry the cousin of her neighbor, rancher Arthur Bennett. There's only one problem — when she meets her future husband, he looks as if he is just out of kindergarten!

Surely this union is never going to work, is it?

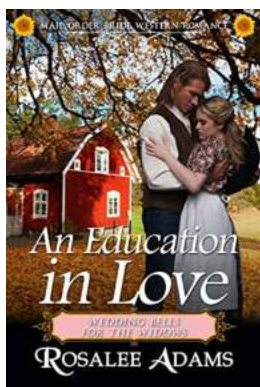

Can Ruby overcome her prejudices and learn that age is just a number, one that can be overcome with love and a little time and understanding?
