I am Zaysan. People all over the world know me by Z. I have had a very different life than most. It seems that it has always led to the extremes. I do not look for these things, but they just seem to come to me. Since this is the norm for me, I feel I approach and handle these events in my life in a different way than others. That is what lead to this recent event.

I was in what was a normal day for me. I was hiking in the jungle many miles from anything. I noticed something that did not fit into the journey I was on. A lady, that in no way, fit what would be expected here. She was beautifully dressed, more for a much different environment; clean and in distress. That is where my different way of seeing things came to the surface. Just like an animal that was in trouble, I would try my best to free it. I had to help this lady and nothing more. I did not try to explain or rationalize the situation but just to set it right. Once this was accomplished, I thought to myself that I was either insane or something beautiful just happened. It did not matter, it just was.

The event was not invited nor would I seek it further. It was the past and I try to live in the present. Then without expectation, that recent past returned. This lady and her friends were interested in me and why I did what I did. I am very good at seeing the things that present themselves to me and I only felt love from these people. Where I was, the structure I was in, did not seem earthly. I did not feel threatened because of who I am. I know death will come for me one day. I did not feel this would be one of them, so the odds of this felt good. Maybe or maybe not, it did not matter to me.

It turned out to be what I would call a universal accidental event. You know sometimes things happen whether it is on purpose or not. The only thing that matters is you involve yourself with it and see how it turns out. To me the timing of this did not matter but it is nice to think that the universe may, so rather than screw up some sort of cosmic timing, I think it is best just to not interfere. If it needs for something to happen, then so be it.

I have no idea why this happened to me or why what happened even happened at all, but I think it is something that has so much value that it cannot be ignored. What I do understand is that this experience I am having is amazing. I am so appreciative and feel so blessed to have this happening to me. You may or may not believe what you read. I do not care. I feel the information is so valuable to those who will connect to these things I have learned, that it is very important to us, as the human race. I have nothing to gain by telling my diary. I only have everything to lose. That is how important it is that I pass on the message.
